

Mr. Henry Jiang (Canada)

(hh.jiang@mail.utoronto.ca)

Born in North York, Toronto, Canada in 1993, Henry moved to Hiroshima in 2007 when his mother passed away. In the city of the atomic bombing, he was inspired by Mr. Steven Leeper of the Hiroshima Peace Culture Foundation in working for peace. From then, he participated in the 1st UNESCO Youth Peace Ambassadors workshop in Hiroshima in October, 2010. From that year, he has been invited to many events including various events in various countries including Thailand, Brunei and Turkey. He organized the 4th Youth Peace Ambassadors workshop in Hiroshima in 2012 and is a participant of the 6th Youth Peace Ambassadors workshop.

Henry specializes in youth mobilization and nuclear weapons. He is currently the Chairman of the Hiroshima Youth Committee of ICAN (International Campaign to Abolish Nuclear Weapons). Due to his university education studying Engineering Science at the University of Toronto, he usually works on activities in his free time, mainly in his holidays.
