

Ms. Radita Ikapratiwi, (Indonesia)

My name is Radita Ikapratiwi, but many people just call me “Dita”, “Bangdit”, or “Ndit”. I was born in Jakarta, the capital city of Indonesia, on 2nd June 1992. I have a sister who always supports me, and so do my parents. I’m the type of person who is responsible and socially minded.

I entered Jenderal Soedirman University in 2009 and joined many extracurricular activities such as sports (badminton), singing (choir), but also religion, journalism, and English clubs. That all changed my life about how to make relationships with a lot of people.

I like learning and teaching. My passion in serving others and make a relation with a lot of people make me always passionate about understanding how to behave with people of different costumes. I am on my way to achieving my dream as a doctor and learning more about social life.
