(sadiqyusof91@gmail.com)

I was born on 20 January 1991, and I am the second child in a family of five siblings. I'm now studying at MARA University of Technology as a third year law student. I'm very busy representing my university in debating competitions since my first year, so I never had an opportunity to get involved in community activities. I was chosen as the president of my university's debate club, and won:

- the presidential peace debate Championship in 2013, Malaysia
- best debaters for Malay Language category in few debate tournaments

However, I think I also need to serve the community rather than focus on myself.

One day, Mr Wafee who was one the Malaysia's representatives in the 5th Youth Peace Ambassador International, asked me to join his club, the 'UNESCO Ambassador' of our university. So it's a good opportunity to get involved in activities that serve and benefit the communities around me. In 2013, my passion for humanitarian service and peace took me to the 6th Youth Peace Ambassador International Training Workshop. I'm inspired to advance my passion for peace with an action plan that aims at improving the human rights, especially the rights of child beggars. Other than that, I already became part of the Environmental Club in my university, and joined activities concerning environmental awareness in a few states in Malaysia.

I want to make an impact in the society, share knowledge and values to the children and the youth. I would like to start a very good culture in the society to spread peace around the world. This is a good start and I promised myself that I will not stop serving the community.
