PROBLEM STATEMENTS

- ▶ A) In the Philippines, most of the award giving bodies do not focus specifically on peace. Instead, they reward outstanding youth organizations or schools that are able to implement projects on environment, community development and student welfare.
- ▶ B) Bullying is now an alarming issue in the schools in the Philippines and in some cases, effective response is not provided, so with other issues like youth delinquency, vices, and violence.

PROBLEM STATEMENTS

- ▶ C) As future Youth Peace Ambassadors, we hope to make the students and the schools at large aware of and active in building a peaceful school environment where students can experience a joyful and fulfilling learning condition; where they can feel secure and responsibly free.

OBJECTIVES

- ▶ 1) To Encourage student leaders to make their school a school of peace through the implementation of various activities and programs within their campus, based on criteria contained in the various documents and declarations of the United Nations and UNESCO.
- ▶ 2) To give recognition to schools who qualified based in the indicators set.
- ▶ 3) To establish a network of schools of peace in the country.

OBJECTIVES

- ▶ 4) For it to serve as inspiration for other schools to have a more peaceful environment which will then be more conducive for learning and the formation of future community leaders and social transformers.
