I am Arfika Pertiwi Putri, called Fika from Indonesia. I was born Indonesia, 4 June 1992. I'm a major in communication science, social and politics faculty. I love writing about analysis, short stories, or articles. I have web blog www.arfika.com because I love blogging.

My concern is about related communication science and another case study in this world. Because I believe that communication is an important thing, and every deep skin always has a communication layer. One of the big fathers of communication said - we can't not communicate'. Another one of my focus is education and children. I have one program named 'sekolah nusantara' it's this program teaching children in the village through funny and creative methods.
