I'm from Hyderabad, India. I have done my PG in Business Administration from one of the prestigious institutes in India, the Indian Institute of Management Indore (IIM-Indore). With an admission rate of around 1% and the best curriculum IIMs are the most coveted MBA institutions. Currently I work as a Senior Manager – Sales & Marketing for FMCG Company in Dubai, UAE.

In my graduation days I made presentations to World Bank on 'Migration Patterns', The Goi Peace Foundation, Japan on 'My Story of Inspiration', 'Sustainable Growth' to 6th World Youth Congress in Brazil. I was an International Delegate representing India in 12th International Youth Day (IYD) Conference held in Iloilo, Philippines and I lectured on 'Eradication of Extreme Poverty & Hunger'. I also represented India in First Looking Beyond Disaster Youth Forum (LBD1) in Christchurch, New Zealand. This gave me an opportunity to interact with the like-minded people from across the globe. It provided me the platform where I experienced and learnt different cultures and shared my expertise on disaster management which I gained when I worked in National Cadet Corps (NCC) that aims to develop qualities such as social service, team spirit, leadership, discipline and self-confidence & NGO's.

Also, I was a member of AIESEC – The World's Largest Student Driven Organization. I'm philanthropically inclined. I along with few of my friends formed a group called 'Hope – 4 the Better Future' which started with funding education for poor and orphan children and medicines to HIV infected children in and around Pune-India. We extended our service to the people who were affected by natural calamities.

I was the President of "Samanvay" which works to fulfill the ambition of Indian Government to bring banking to the unbanked poor – Financial Inclusion. Last year we educated more than 2000 people about the advantages of insurance and savings. We further helped 685 poor people to get "No Frills Savings Bank Account" and "Life Insurance".

I am very friendly and enthusiastic guy. I consider myself as a "Go Getter". I can easily fit in any role as I am a quick learner and I love challenges. Strong interpersonal skills, discipline and motivation are my strengths. My hobbies include listening to music and dancing. One of my goals is to work with the United Nations and help those who in need.
