(Afghanistan)

Problem Statement

Afghanistan is a war-torn country, we have needs in every aspect of life, but looking at the recent damages caused by floods in the country, we need to have a national policy and framework that will oversee and make sure people's needs are met. Lack of such institutionalized framework makes life miserable for the people who suffer in such incidents or disasters.

Goals and objectives

- Policy Making for Disaster Management
- Promoting the culture of contribution from people to victims
- Creating a nation fund-box that will be held as deposit box and will be spent when there are disasters
- Using the potential of youth for helping people
- Training youth to learn about disaster management and supporting they countrymen during difficult times

Programs

- National Policy making procedures.
- A new fund box will be initiated, with linkage to a secretariat for distribution in times of disaster.

Stakeholders

- National Disaster Management Authority
- Welfare and charity organizations
- Civil Society
- Youth Organizations
- Media

Timeline

The background of the slide features a soft-focus image of several hands of different skin tones interlocking to form a peace symbol. The hands are adorned with various pieces of jewelry, including bracelets and bangles. One bracelet has the word 'LOVE' in blue letters, another has 'PEACE' in white letters, and there is a pink heart-shaped charm. The overall tone is warm and positive.
