(laxmirgmi@gmail.com)

I was born in Nepal and am a student of management. I completed a bachelors of management and have been working in various sectors, such as cleaning campaigns,

Her interest lies on social activities like working with orphans and children. Furthermore, she is equally passionate about environmental issues and she was actively involved as a volunteer during 72 week long Bagmati cleaning campaign. Also, she was involved in post disaster response activities after the strong 7.9 Richter scale earthquake in Nepal and assisted a Korean medical team as a translator in the Gorkha District of Nepal. As a young researcher she is trying to connect her community with resource management, economy improvement and developing resilience.

She is looking forward to exchange the best practices in the field of sanitation and relationship building with children and youths.
