

Mr. Sho Kawakami (Japan)

(bdash.cho@gmail.com)

I was born in 1992 in Itami city Hyogo prefecture Japan. I am a student of Kansai University in located in Osaka, and my major is sociology, especially homeless studies and research on poverty in Japan. I belong to a volunteer club which is the Japan campus chapter of Habitat for Humanity, the organization of building houses for the poor. I have been to Indonesia and India as a volunteer to help to build houses for local people.

I have experienced the Great Hanshin Awaji earthquake in 1995 and the Great East Japan earthquake in 2011. I have been to Tohoku which is the main affected area of the Great east Japan earthquake as a volunteer and help local people to keep their community.
