- ✘ Conclusion

It is believed that a lot of people working to save the environment in the world. However we have enough problem which is need the solution. In this case any youth should add his work to contribute this safeness.

The world should add their individual work to save the environment though their desire or willingness

Most of gradulators of orphanage don't know which specialty they want or should choose in their future life. One of the true way to help them is talking and getting advice for them.

This project consecrate to help the pupils of orphanage to choose the true way in their life.

Through the strong communication, we may feel what the pupils want in the deep of their heart.

In this project, you can see one of the way to make a budget on spending it for kindness.

METHOD:

During the project, we started to show volunteers the place where we have to clear and to built a small "Eco garden"

After finish the task, collected plastic bottles will sell to rubbish stores. Next day the same students will buy presents to kids of orphanage in Tashkent and make conversation. During the conversation they will help the kids of orphanage to choose their way in their future life and make communication between university and orphanage.

These students of Tashkent University of Economics and University World Economy and of Diplomacy

We want the peace of the brave for our children and for their children, for a bright future where they can live and learn. –
Islam Karimov
President of Uzbekistan

Nowadays the one of the most peaceful task for everyone is helping to choose true way in their life. Most of gradulators of orphanage don't know which specialty they want or should choose in the future. The true way to help them is talking and getting advice and making community.

One of the result of our project is Eco tower, which the volunteers built during the action in the Eco garden.

In building the Eco garden, we don't need any financial support. We solve it with a work of students.

Meantime we went to State orphanage #25 in Tashkent, to meet with children and to make strong communication between orphanage and university. For about three days we provide show and meeting in orphanage for pupils.

In the 2nd day the team leaders bought presents (such as stationary, books) to pupils of 25# orphanage in Tashkent and make them little brain game to improve their ability and to make them happiness.

The most interesting thing that graduates don't know what is the major object of the specialty. However if we contribute their ability and capacity, surely they will be a good specialists in the future

Through awareness, you get a certain attitude. That's the way, you see, to achieve more peaceful, more compassion, more friendship through that way – Temurlane

Conclusion

Finally approximately 70% of gradulators had decided which profession they would choose.

What we will do in the future?

After coming up a benefit results we decided to provide such kind of meeting, lessons and conversations in the another orphanages of Tashkent
