Youth and Peace: Current Problems

- Sometimes problems in the world start with just a small misunderstanding. Sometimes people from different family backgrounds, different races or different religions can have conflicts because of a small matter.
- Sometimes problems among countries even can start with just a small conflicts or misunderstanding.
- What will be the solutions when there are conflicts happened? Can it be solved in peace or only can be settled through war?
- What are today's youth can contribute in peace no matter in their home, their society, their country or even in the world?
- How far can today's youth can understand about own cultures and others as well? Through understanding we can accept the differences.
