(andhinaratri@gmail.com)

I am studying Social Economy of Agriculture, Department of Agriculture, Universitas Gadjah Mada, Indonesia. I love photography and videography. My concern is to make green habits, so I join youth community that have concern about the environment. I love to make a friend, because networking is very important for me. I hope that youth people have more awareness to everything around them, so we would have a better world, as we know that young people are future leaders. I am a part of Young On Top community, we gather Indonesian youth people to make a real action in green generation, education, and energy. I am also part of Indonesian Youth Network Towards Disaster Resilience, and other youth communities, and joined LBD2 and LBD3.
